

I'm appalled by your crackdown on 'indecenty.' To slam Clear Channel for indecenty regarding Howard Stern is absolutly wrong. Personnally, I'm not a fan of Howard Stern and I can easily understand why many would find his program offensive, but the content on his program is no more offensive and 'indencent' than much of the material found on television and radio today. I implore you to look at the lyrics to all current top-40 songs; you will find many of them loaded with sexual innuendos and cliches. Maybe you find Stern's show 'indecent' because of his straight-forwardness regarding sexual taboo, or maybe you just haven't been paying close attention to the music coming from YOUR child's stereo.

Just a thought
